

Environmental policy

At Mermaid Medical we are committed to delivering high-quality products and services to ensure patient safety and health. However, we also recognize our significant role in preserving and protecting the environment. Therefore, we are working to ensure systematic and targeted action to reduce our environmental impact and enhance environmental awareness within our organization. We commit to complying with applicable environmental legislation and, in addition, we will:

- Commit to implementing environmental considerations in all processes of our business activities.
- Actively work to minimize our environmental impact by identifying and reducing the potential for environmentally harmful emissions and waste production in our production processes.
- Commit to continually improving our environmental management system by evaluating and optimizing our environmental objectives, procedures, and results.
- Seek partnerships with suppliers and stakeholders who share our environmental values.
- Engage our employees to drive positive environmental change through training, communication, and empowerment, fostering a culture of sustainability.

By integrating the above into our daily activities and following our environmental policy, we are committed to achieving a balance between patient safety, health, and environmental sustainability. We will continue to seek innovative solutions to minimize our environmental impact and contribute to a sustainable future.
